A first-aid workshop was organized by Bosco Delhi's Medical Team. Dr. Vijay briefed and guided some Social Workers from different NGO's who work majorly on field. The social workers were given insights about situations where their promptness and skills could be put to best use in order to help somebody in need. Different situational emergencies were discussed with them and how to render a solution to such emergencies were also discussed with them. The workshop was full of knowledge and the social workers definitely felt more aware and able to face not only just emergencies in their best possible capacity but also able to do basic check-ups as and when required.
