

Organic Kitchen Garden and Micro Level Business (2018-2019) BOSCO

BOSCO ORGANISATION FOR SOCIAL CONCERN AND OPERATION

The Organic Kitchen Garden (OKG) and Micro-Business Project mobilize people for self-reliant action, empowering women as key agents of change and to engage with SHGs through comprehensive strategies. OKG aims to prepare women step forth as leaders and participate in capacity-building activities such as, group dynamic and leadership program, finance management, credit linkage, micro-business and follow up with various workshops. OKG is a project that elevates one's life and transforms the world by growing own fresh fruits, vegetables and herbs without any toxic chemicals or synthetic fertilizers and pesticides. It helps in replacing manmade chemicals with those derived from natural source. It also contributes to cultivating an ecosystem that sustains and nourishes plants, soil microbes and beneficial insects rather than simply making plants. OKG is a place, mostly within the premises of the house, where plants, trees, and creepers that supply vegetables, fruits, and other edible items are grown, primarily for the consumption of the household members.
